

CERTIFICATION GUIDELINES AND ORDER FORM

NRA Hunter Clinic Instructor Program

New instructors must order the Hunter Clinic Instructor Kit to begin the training process and gain the desired certification. Current instructors may use this form to purchase materials for conducting Hunter Clinics.

The Hunter Clinic Instructor Kit contains one (1) of each of the following:

- NRA Hunter Clinic Instructor's Manual – Topic-specific manual providing instructor lesson plans and support material for teaching each hunter clinic.
- Student Manual – Hunter Skills Series soft-cover books that serve as primary support material for hunter clinics (to be distributed to each clinic participant).
- The Hunter's Guide – A general reference manual with information on varying aspects of hunting including, but not limited to, hunting techniques, wildlife identification and management, firearms, ethics, and survival.
- Application and Examination – Topic-specific form that outlines the Hunter Clinic Instructor certification process including requirements, fees, and accompanying examination.
- Registration and Activities Report Forms – Forms to be completed after a clinic is held and submitted to NRA Hunter Services Department.

Support materials are also available for purchase. They include: topic-specific Instructor Reference Text (copy of the student manual with instructional notes, space for instructional comments/notes, and checklists), certificates, slides, instructional CDs, flipcharts, targets, brassards, caps, educational brochures, and more.

Because there is a cost associated with becoming a Hunter Clinic Instructor and conducting clinics, the NRA recommends that instructors charge a nominal admission fee for each clinic. These fees will help offset the following: initial investment for certifications, student materials, and operational/logistical expenses (i.e. facility rental, range fees, etc.). These fees should only be offset when applicable.

BECOME A NRA CERTIFIED HUNTER CLINIC INSTRUCTOR TODAY!

Caution: The NRA Hunter Clinic Program is designed to be educational and to present practical advanced hunting skills to all hunters. These clinics are not to be confused with, or substituted for, the required hunter safety or hunter education courses offered by the state or provincial wildlife agencies.
